Question #23 on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) asks: “What will your high school completion status be when you begin college in the 2023-2024 school year?” You answered “4”, or “None of the above.” That answer indicates that you do not have a high school diploma or General Educational Development (GED) certificate and/or have not completed homeschooling at the secondary level. You are not eligible to receive federal financial aid without a diploma, GED or homeschool completion, so we must confirm your answer. Please check the correct statement and sign, date and return to the Financial Aid Office. Your financial aid will not be processed without this information.
