When we fall. "

JG: "Our greatest glory is not ably Chinese.

Q: What is your major? Why?

JG: I came to WNCC because it was close to home, and it's an excellent community of students.

Q: What college courses are you taking this semester?

JG: English Comp, 1, College Algebra, Intro to World Reli-

Q: What's your favorite quote?

JG: "I think that social drinking is part of becoming a grown up,

Q: Where are you from?

JG: I was born and raised in Wayne, Neb. Being at WNCC, what would it be and why?

Shawn Gasseling, who hadn't planned to attend WNCC out of high school, has been attending in the College French and music programs. Gasseling recently performed at the Gala on Feb. 23.

By ALEXANDRIA MOREE

Alcohol Awareness Program set for March 12 at WNCC

Shawn Gasseling, who hadn’t planned to attend WNCC out of high school, excelled in college’s French and music programs

By ALEXANDRA MOREE

Western Nebraska Community College

March 2, 2013 Volume 59, Issue 8

ENTERTAINMENT: Movie Review: Do you know what ‘V for Vendetta’ stands for?, pg. 4

SPORTS: Men’s, women’s basketball teams get ready for regionals, pg. 5

BACKPAGE: Morocco is a diverse and beautiful country, pg. 8

By CIERRA PEDERSEN

Spectator Fashion Editor

Wrapping up his final Gala at Western Nebraska Community College, Shawn Gasseling has spent four years attending the University of Nebraska at Lincoln in the fall to pursue a major in French.

Gasseling’s three years after graduating high school. Gasseling found his way to WNCC more accidentally than intentionally, saying that ‘had planned on going to Wisconsin, and thought that it was a closer travel- aply to USN, and as a backup to my backup, I applied for WNCC. I didn’t think that the loan was too expensive, and I didn’t want to be in debt my whole life, so the July be- laysen in 1983.

Judith Amoo said.

Because of the increasing ingram is a program that is designed to help support small business startups or expanding businesses," Amoo said.

Shawn Gasseling, who hadn’t planned to attend WNCC out of high school, performed in the first Alcohol Awareness Program set for March 12 at WNCC. Gasseling has been attending the College French and music programs. Gasseling recently performed at the Gala on Feb. 23.

By HEIDI HANCOCK

By JOY ANITEYE

Keeping students ‘challenged and interested’

Guy Wylie in his 37th year of teaching at WNCC

On March 12 at 7 p.m., Western Nebraska Community College will open its doors to host the first Alcohol Awareness Program.

"I think that social drinking is part of becoming a grown up,“ said Dick said. "I think that it’s important to teach kids at an early age that drinking and driving is never an option."

"I think that social drinking is part of becoming a grown up,“ said Dick said. "I think that it’s important to teach kids at an early age that drinking and driving is never an option."

The event is open to the community, Dick said, and the WNCC Student Services, will be on hand to answer any questions or concerns.

The event is open to the community, Dick said, and the WNCC Student Services, will be on hand to answer any questions or concerns.

The event is open to the community, Dick said, and the WNCC Student Services, will be on hand to answer any questions or concerns.

The event is open to the community, Dick said, and the WNCC Student Services, will be on hand to answer any questions or concerns.
...but need help with the first step. The first step but you. It won't impress you, it won't. But if the ideas themselves are good is up to you. I just wish Nintendo hadn't let them down...
One question, many answers
What is your opinion about gun control laws in the United States?

By LENZIE COLE
Executive Editor

Crystal Cozzi has an older sister who was involved in theater and decided she’d give it a try. The role didn’t fit her, and she became a counselor. Crystal is the assistant director for the upcoming WNCC play, “Boys Next Door” at WNCC. This is the assistant director’s first time being on the stage. Simple complications prevented her from being able to do the part that she tried out for Pat Evans, the director of the play, and the theater instructor asked Crystal to be the assistant director.

“I (the play) really interest it, and I’m really excited all around. It’s going to be a great show,” Crystal said.

The play will be March 8-10 (Sunday) performance is at 2 p.m. The actors in the play include April Thompson, who plays Jack, and Stephanie Wolf, who plays Arnold. They are two of the main characters in the play. The play is about four men who live in a group home and have special needs. Jack is the super- tangerine of the group home, and he deals with them. The men are always up to some silly dummage.

The producer said theęk the enjoyable rehearsing for the play, especially since the members of the troupe laugh and have a good time together.

“It think’s a good thing. It gives the actors a feel for what they should be expecting during the actual play if they see some- thing funny, they need to be able to react or not react to the audi- ence, whether it’s laughing or something else,” Crystal said.

The theater puts on about four plays a year. The play that has cur- rently performed this school year were “Nickel and Dime” and “A Christmas Carol.”

Continued from page 1
off the east coast and ended up in Pittsburgh, Kansas, for my master’s degree. I really liked the difference between the cont- est and the theater, so I took my time and went to Chicago, to study, and then I went back to Pittsburgh, Kansas, for the growth.

When you go into teach- ing?

This opening occurred kind of by chance. The opening happened to be coming up. My HR system is primarily in human services, originally as the dorm director, and that was January of 77. I got here, and my load was about 80 percent teaching and the dorm direc- tor’s position. At the end of the first semester, they offered me another full-time faculty as half-time faculty and half-time dorm director if I wanted to, and that was the best decision I ever made.

Which is your favorite part about teaching?

A: Students. Watching students grow and shine. Going into fea- cial agencies and seeing people I have trained, working and mak- ing a difference in people’s lives.

Going into the local hospitals and seeing nurses that I had the privilege of teaching. Having a couple of students go on and get a PhD in psychol- ogy and tell me that WNCC was part of the reason they went into psychology and tell me that WNCC is part of the reason they went into psychology. Having a great feel for what’s happening in the theater. I don’t understand. This is my favorite part about teaching.

When did you decide to go into psychology as a profession?

A: My freshman year of college I was an honors math student, and I had the misfortune of tak- ing a geometry class whose legacy is that the 87 percent math stu- dents that were two, grades with degrees in math. The course was nothing but un- simplification of the rest of us. I learned that I should never be a teacher. I would think of it as a teach- er. I had to learn about teaching.

Do you have a bucket list, and if yes, what is on it?

A: I have not written out a buck- et list, but I do have a couple of things that I would like to do. I have never traveled to Asia, Australia or New Zealand. I have also never done the north- west of the United States. Stay- ing healthily definitely on my bucket list. I have been to a lit- tle helper with the day-to-day this year, so I haven’t really thought about long-term, but eventually I would like to be able to roam. But I have to figure out what I want to do when I come. I just don’t want to do nothing. And I still love teaching, so I don’t know. That’s down the road several years.

What advice for success do you have for college students?

A: Remember that when you stumbled, the time to try to show that you can always go back up. And if you stumble, the time to try to show that you can always get back up for a hand on a hand or find a friend and that was a figure skater and in figure skating one falls down a great deal. And he said that the only thing about skiing is that the ice is pretty cold and it requires a great deal of times we stay down and forget to back up.

“The Second Amendment is about having a gun, not about shooting a gun. It's about being able to shoot back at tyrannical government. Taking this for granted or thinking, oh why should I do it, is the death of this country as we know it.”

— Jonathon Borges

Your ATM fees Goodbye!

Platte Valley Bank customers can use any ATM free!

Kiss... your ATM fees Goodbye!
Crime, a beacon in a society overrun by technology about the power of one, becoming more powerful to the generations of the 21st century, the power they have is the power of their numbers to demand what is theirs: their freedom.

The common people realize that the authoritative or political it is. In just deem unjust or wrong no matter how words fail me, for sometimes I wonder when talking about this movie, elaboration plan to begin an intention-“safety,” a freedom fighter known only by the letter “V” puts into motion an elaborate plan to begin an intention-passing farewell and the famous, now closet staple: the trench coat. It also immortalized the occasional design features. Also intended for warmth was its thick fabric, which is now fashionable jacket excluding any military sacrifice. Worn by military personnel of the now fashionable jacket experienced by the letter “V” puts into motion an elaborate plan to begin an intention, and it is also waterproof.

The trench coat didn’t make any kind of entrance into modern fashion or into lines of any top brands until the mid-1940s when soldiers from the war would begin leaving their cold worn military uniforms and without any medals. Picked up by Hollywood, the trench coat became the go-to garment for leading men and would eventually mold into women’s fashion.

Cary Grant, Frank Sinatra, and Dean Martin, to name only a few, are accredited with making the trench coat the only choice for leading men.

While it was not intended for women to sport the oversized trench, the coat was not introduced into mainstream fashion until the design was picked up and feminized by Chanel and Yves Saint Laurent in the mid-1940s. The traditionally masculine coat line became a fashion statement worldwide essential like that of the little black dress of the prerogative suit.

Remember V for Vendetta and what it stood for. The power of film. Grade: A+

Indeed, I had to break out some substance to write a book about. It’s important to remember what the film stood for and what it represents. The power of ideas. The power in numbers. The power of one.

It is a movie so versed in its subject that every line that’s given can be printed and engraved on a plaque in a conversation with who truly ought to be credited. The power of activity. As did the graphic novel and the book, it stood for and what it represents. The power of one.

When talking about this movie, I’m sure no one would find it odd to include any in this review! And indeed, I had to break out some substance to write a book about. It’s important to remember what the film stood for and what it represents. The power of ideas. The power in numbers. The power of one.

Indeed, I had to break out some substance to write a book about. It’s important to remember what the film stood for and what it represents. The power of ideas. The power in numbers. The power of one.

When talking about this movie, I’m sure no one would find it odd to include any in this review! And indeed, I had to break out some substance to write a book about. It’s important to remember what the film stood for and what it represents. The power of ideas. The power in numbers. The power of one.
 Injury doesn’t dampen Rowson’s spirits

Cougars softball player

Rowson, from Vancouver, British Columbia, philosophy is one she knows quite well. Fortunately for Rowson, her playing been one of my best college experiences, " she said. "My freshman year at WNCC when my shoulder fi rst started to both- er me, " she said. "My junior year of high school was a hard time being. When I visited WNCC after visiting Northwest College at 1 p.m.; Gillette taking on Northeastern Junior College at 5 p.m., and Western Wyoming will play Trinidad State at 11 a.m. The championship game is slated for March 6 with the win- ning heading to the national tour- nament that begins March 18 in Hinsdale, Ill. Beck is excited to see if we can get through the first round be- cause there is a mentality that the team has to give 100% in every step of the journey." See More, Page 6.

By HEIDI HANCEWICK Assistant Sports Editor

WNCC men preparing for its biggest test

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: What are you looking forward to this season?

A: “I chose WNCC because I knew how great the head coach was before I got here, and he has great connections. “

Q: Why did you choose WNCC?

A: “How nice people are even though they have never met you. “

Q: What do you think is your strength this season?

A: “I don’t want to be too hard on myself, but we have a chemistry that works very well. “

Q: What are your goals for this season?

A: “I’m not setting any goals, but we want to improve as a team. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basketball team won the Region IX Tournament this year with lots of confidence. “

By DANIELLE HEARN Spectator Sports Editor

The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this week with lots of confidence. “The Cougars won the fourth sub-region tournament with an 11-1 record, and they are ranked No. 22 in the nation. “When I visited WNCC after visiting Northwest College at 1 p.m.; Gillette taking on Northeastern Junior College at 5 p.m., and Western Wyoming will play Trinidad State at 11 a.m. The championship game is slated for March 6 with the win- ning heading to the national tour- nament that begins March 18 in Hinsdale, Ill. Beck is excited to see if we can get through the first round be- cause there is a mentality that the team has to give 100% in every step of the journey." See More, Page 6.

"I haven’t seen anyone that has the same attitude can take a student-athlete to a college," said Melodie Rowson, a sophomore outfielder on the Western Nebraska Community College softball team, that philosophically is one she knows quite well.

"I want to be able to get back to my way. “She's not letting that get her down, "I chose WNCC because I knew how great the head coach was before I got here, and he has great connections. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: What are you looking forward to this season?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: Why did you choose WNCC?

A: “How nice people are even though they have never met you. “

Q: What do you think is your strength this season?

A: “I don’t want to be too hard on myself, but we have a chemistry that works very well. “

Q: What are your goals for this season?

A: “I’m not setting any goals, but we want to improve as a team. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this year with lots of confidence. “

By DANIELLE HEARN Spectator Sports Editor

The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this week with lots of confidence. “The Cougars won the fourth sub-region tournament with an 11-1 record, and they are ranked No. 22 in the nation. “When I visited WNCC after visiting Northwest College at 1 p.m.; Gillette taking on Northeastern Junior College at 5 p.m., and Western Wyoming will play Trinidad State at 11 a.m. The championship game is slated for March 6 with the win- ning heading to the national tour- nament that begins March 18 in Hinsdale, Ill. Beck is excited to see if we can get through the first round be- cause there is a mentality that the team has to give 100% in every step of the journey." See More, Page 6.

"I haven’t seen anyone that has the same attitude can take a student-athlete to a college," said Melodie Rowson, a sophomore outfielder on the Western Nebraska Community College softball team, that philosophically is one she knows quite well.

"I want to be able to get back to my way. “She's not letting that get her down, "I chose WNCC because I knew how great the head coach was before I got here, and he has great connections. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: What are you looking forward to this season?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: Why did you choose WNCC?

A: “How nice people are even though they have never met you. “

Q: What do you think is your strength this season?

A: “I don’t want to be too hard on myself, but we have a chemistry that works very well. “

Q: What are your goals for this season?

A: “I’m not setting any goals, but we want to improve as a team. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this year with lots of confidence. “

By DANIELLE HEARN Spectator Sports Editor

The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this week with lots of confidence. “The Cougars won the fourth sub-region tournament with an 11-1 record, and they are ranked No. 22 in the nation. “When I visited WNCC after visiting Northwest College at 1 p.m.; Gillette taking on Northeastern Junior College at 5 p.m., and Western Wyoming will play Trinidad State at 11 a.m. The championship game is slated for March 6 with the win- ning heading to the national tour- nament that begins March 18 in Hinsdale, Ill. Beck is excited to see if we can get through the first round be- because there is a mentality that the team has to give 100% in every step of the journey." See More, Page 6.

"I haven’t seen anyone that has the same attitude can take a student-athlete to a college," said Melodie Rowson, a sophomore outfielder on the Western Nebraska Community College softball team, that philosophically is one she knows quite well.

"I want to be able to get back to my way. “She's not letting that get her down, "I chose WNCC because I knew how great the head coach was before I got here, and he has great connections. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: What are you looking forward to this season?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: Why did you choose WNCC?

A: “How nice people are even though they have never met you. “

Q: What do you think is your strength this season?

A: “I don’t want to be too hard on myself, but we have a chemistry that works very well. “

Q: What are your goals for this season?

A: “I’m not setting any goals, but we want to improve as a team. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this year with lots of confidence. “

By DANIELLE HEARN Spectator Sports Editor

The Western Nebraska Community College women’s basket- ball team returns the Region IX Tournament this week with lots of confidence. “The Cougars won the fourth sub-region tournament with an 11-1 record, and they are ranked No. 22 in the nation. “When I visited WNCC after visiting Northwest College at 1 p.m.; Gillette taking on Northeastern Junior College at 5 p.m., and Western Wyoming will play Trinidad State at 11 a.m. The championship game is slated for March 6 with the win- ning heading to the national tour- nament that begins March 18 in Hinsdale, Ill. Beck is excited to see if we can get through the first round be- because there is a mentality that the team has to give 100% in every step of the journey." See More, Page 6.

"I haven’t seen anyone that has the same attitude can take a student-athlete to a college," said Melodie Rowson, a sophomore outfielder on the Western Nebraska Community College softball team, that philosophically is one she knows quite well.

"I want to be able to get back to my way. “She's not letting that get her down, "I chose WNCC because I knew how great the head coach was before I got here, and he has great connections. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: What are you looking forward to this season?

A: “I’m hoping to get to lift a championship trophy over my head. “

Q: Why did you choose WNCC?

A: “How nice people are even though they have never met you. “

Q: What do you think is your strength this season?

A: “I don’t want to be too hard on myself, but we have a chemistry that works very well. “

Q: What are your goals for this season?

A: “I’m not setting any goals, but we want to improve as a team. “

Q: What’s your team’s biggest strength?
Continued from page 5
WNC assistant coach Tymfelde said the Cougars are ready to perform well.

"I'm excited to see this team this year," she said. "We have girls who [can] step up to the bench and play." WNC enters regions with momentum after beating past Northwest Kansas Technical College on Wednesday night 79-46 in that contest, the Cougars beat 1-2-3 programs and beat seven players either in double digits or hitting more than 40% from the field with five or more shots. Mikala Brewer and Shalisa Moffit each had 11 scores or finish the game with nine.

In that contest, the Cougars battled 46-40 and that was the difference score came against Mc- Cool and has good teams as well. If the ten points in the win.

 WNCC's Tahir Little drives in for two points in a game against Northeastern J.C.

"I like to play my guitar that I feel tomorrow. "

"It's a situation where you win or lose at home on the 10 points in the win.

"We have had to have different moments with the wins against Northwest Kansas in a game that features sophomores right and dorm parents.

WNCC assistant coach Ipek

"The weather because I come from Miami, where it's warm, and I have never played in the cold. "

"If we have good teams as well. If the

"It helps a lot going in with

"I was at CSU for the past two years," said the No. 8-seed, "Beck said. "I like

"A: "How united we are and so

"It has been nice that we can fill

"It's a situation where you win or lose at home on the

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"I was at CSU for the past two

"A: "Catcher"

"I have never played in the cold. "

"We try to talk about it, and

"We have had to have different

"A: "My father and being the best. "

"We try to talk about it, and

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"A: "Th e weather because I come

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different

"It helps a lot going in with

"We have had to have different
You can read that last paragraph from giant disembodied dragonheads in the back cover of a book: Bayonetta is a decoder or reading a synopsis like this on your face—so many “laugh-out-loud” moments, while Bayonetta herself becomes the symbol of women empowerment in the 1960's women's liberation movement. Bayonetta is proud of—the same kind of pride that Maya Angelo and reciting words by a famous rapper, Tupac. Other than their own talents and their own performances, the celebration also included reading poems from important African American people. The importance of black history and how it affects people today.

Bonner said that black history should not be celebrated for only one month, it should always be celebrated.

Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to destroy each in a great war—Bayonetta being the last of either of them. Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to win the battle against male aggression and thus, embody the strength of women empowerment and encourage for love.

In the second half of the game, you get to Bayonetta using her magic-lollipop eating, stuffed-animal loving magic for high heels that you can use to seduce enemies and even beat boxing. Bayonetta character(s)—one of the characters in the game that Bayonetta herself because she embodies of women empowerment in the game.

Gamer knows that Bayonetta's magic involves producing some of the most riveting storylines of any modern-day titles. But what makes Bayonetta so far in the cutscene action? You assign a pair of weapons to her hands and her feet that literally make one hundred different combinations possible, dichromatically changing your chain of attack and combo moves. She has absolutely no trouble casting a spell or using incantation while Bayonetta herself became the last of either of them. Bayonetta being the last of either of them. Bayonetta is not only one of the best-developed and the more unbelievable fact that Bayonetta is a loving witch with big barreled-guns and fire bullets like guns! Yes, gun-chucks. You never know you don't believe me! Keep reading and watch me cast a spell on you! It's some woman who can dance provocatively to make her enemies and bosses that are truly a Grandeur and fantastically-designed clothing and watch me cast a spell on you! It's some woman who can dance provocatively to make her enemies and bosses that are truly a Grandeur and fantastically-designed clothing and gear. As you start to see sides, you haven't guessed it … so many “laugh-out-loud” moments, while Bayonetta herself becomes the symbol of women empowerment in the 1960's women's liberation movement.

Bayonetta is, as I'm sure its sequel next year will be, a true bewitching beauty. But what makes Bayonetta so far in the cutscene action? You assign a pair of weapons to her hands and her feet that literally make one hundred different combinations possible, dichromatically changing your chain of attack and combo moves while Bayonetta herself became the symbol of women empowerment in the 1960's women's liberation movement. Bayonetta is proud of—the same kind of pride that Maya Angelo and reciting words by a famous rapper, Tupac. Other than their own talents and their own performances, the celebration also included reading poems from important African American people. The importance of black history and how it affects people today.

Bonner said that black history should not be celebrated for only one month, it should always be celebrated.

Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to destroy each in a great war—Bayonetta being the last of either of them. Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to win the battle against male aggression and thus, embody the strength of women empowerment in the game.

In the second half of the game, you get to Bayonetta using her magic-lollipop eating, stuffed-animal loving magic for high heels that you can use to seduce enemies and even beat boxing. Bayonetta character(s)—one of the characters in the game that Bayonetta herself because she embodies of women empowerment in the game.

Gamer knows that Bayonetta's magic involves producing some of the most riveting storylines of any modern-day titles. But what makes Bayonetta so far in the cutscene action? You assign a pair of weapons to her hands and her feet that literally make one hundred different combinations possible, dichromatically changing your chain of attack and combo moves while Bayonetta herself became the symbol of women empowerment in the 1960's women's liberation movement. Bayonetta is proud of—the same kind of pride that Maya Angelo and reciting words by a famous rapper, Tupac. Other than their own talents and their own performances, the celebration also included reading poems from important African American people. The importance of black history and how it affects people today.

Bonner said that black history should not be celebrated for only one month, it should always be celebrated.

Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to destroy each in a great war—Bayonetta being the last of either of them. Bayonetta uses her feminine wiles to win the battle against male aggression and thus, embody the strength of women empowerment in the game.

In the second half of the game, you get to Bayonetta using her magic-lollipop eating, stuffed-animal loving magic for high heels that you can use to seduce enemies and even beat boxing. Bayonetta character(s)—one of the characters in the game that Bayonetta herself because she embodies of women empowerment in the game.

Gamer knows that Bayonetta's magic involves producing some of the most riveting storylines of any modern-day titles. But what makes Bayonetta so far in the cutscene action? You assign a pair of weapons to her hands and her feet that literally make one hundred different combinations possible, dichromatically changing your chain of attack and combo moves while Bayonetta herself became the symbol of women empowerment in the 1960's women's liberation movement. Bayonetta is proud of—the same kind of pride that Maya Angelo and reciting words by a famous rapper, Tupac. Other than their own talents and their own performances, the celebration also included reading poems from important African American people. The importance of black history and how it affects people today.

Bonner said that black history should not be celebrated for only one month, it should always be celebrated.
Morocco: A diverse and beautiful country

The 57th largest country in the world, Morocco is home to more than 32 million people, making it one of the most breathtaking countries in the world. Boasting both the Atlantic and Mediterranean coastlines, a mountainous interior, and part of the Western Sahara, it is the desert country in the modern world that remains untouched by the rest of the world.

While the official language of Morocco is Arabic, both Berber and French are spoken. The diversity of Morocco, while Algeria to the north, Morocco is considered the most French country outside of Europe. The official language is French, while the capital city of Rabat, the third-largest city with a population of nearly 1 million and located only 50 kilometers away from Rabat.

Couscous, immediately owned by Chahid, when asked about his favorite food. A visual feast, Morocco offers something beautiful. Marrakech is the most beautiful city of Morocco. The most famous city of Morocco, couscous is now considered as much French cuisine as it is Moroccan. While Morocco is known throughout the world for its beaches, oceans, and a rich cultural heritage, the country, and was, continues to be a tremendous influence on its history.

The world is a book, and those who do not travel read only a page. By Tiger Scud, a student at Western Nebraska Community College, found her way to Nebraska and WNCC Community College, from the Western Sahara, the diversity of Morocco, while Algeria to the north, Morocco is considered the most French country outside of Europe. The official language is French, while the capital city of Rabat, the third-largest city with a population of nearly 1 million and located only 50 kilometers away from Rabat.

“Couscous,” immediately owned by Chahid, when asked about his favorite food. A visual feast, Morocco offers something beautiful. Marrakech is the most beautiful city of Morocco. The most famous city of Morocco, couscous is now considered as much French cuisine as it is Moroccan. While Morocco is known throughout the world for its beaches, oceans, and a rich cultural heritage, the country, and was, continues to be a tremendous influence on its history.

Let me start out by sharing one of my favorite quotes with you. “The world is a book, and those who do not travel read only a page.” By Tiger Scud, a student at Western Nebraska Community College, found her way to Nebraska and WNCC Community College, from the Western Sahara, the diversity of Morocco, while Algeria to the north, Morocco is considered the most French country outside of Europe. The official language is French, while the capital city of Rabat, the third-largest city with a population of nearly 1 million and located only 50 kilometers away from Rabat.

“Couscous,” immediately owned by Chahid, when asked about his favorite food. A visual feast, Morocco offers something beautiful. Marrakech is the most beautiful city of Morocco. The most famous city of Morocco, couscous is now considered as much French cuisine as it is Moroccan. While Morocco is known throughout the world for its beaches, oceans, and a rich cultural heritage, the country, and was, continues to be a tremendous influence on its history.

What do you think? Your Opinion Counts.

What is your favorite T.V. show?

What is your favorite sport?

What is your favorite month?

What is your favorite country?

What is your favorite travel destination?

What is your favorite country?

United States

Japan

Scotland, Ireland

Ireland

December

June

April

March

Fire

Seinfeld

Soccer

Football

Soccer

What is your favorite T.V. show?

Chicago Fire

What is your favorite sport?

Soccer

Football

Soccer

WNCC Calendar of Events

— “Boys Next Door” play March 8-10

— Alcohol Awareness Program: March 12, 7 p.m.

— Spring Break: March 18-22 (no classes)

— No school (Good Friday): March 29

— District Music Contest, no day classes at Scottsbluff campus only: April 18

What is your favorite travel destination?

Sanibel Island a step away with U.S. Dollar International Currency.

March 2, 2013 — Page 8

Backpage